BRIDGETON, N. J., Nov. 21.—None the worse for their thrilling experience, Lieut. Commander T. G. W. Settle and Major Chester Fordney were found safe today after they had made a perfect "egg shell" landing in their stratosphere balloon in the swampy marshes ten miles southwest of Bridgeton.

They had been missing in their aluminum gondola for hours after having penetrated eleven miles into the sky, and thousands of persons had been searching for them by land and air with coast guard stations and making preparation to scour the sea.

Wonderful Experience.

"It was a wonderful experience and we wouldn't have missed it for anything," said Major Fordney to an International News Service reporter.

WILL ROGERS
says:

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 21.—Well, the name of the new Russian ambassador appeared in the papers today, and it just about took up all the paper. It's Alexander Antonovich Trovanovsky. That's an alphabetic rhapsody in vowels and consonants.

But they don't put much over on Mr. Roosevelt. He sent 'em a guy named Bullitt. That was just a kind of subtle hint.

Mr. Roosevelt was rather undecided exactly what to do on the stabilization of the dollar till the U. S. Chamber of Commerce came out and told him what to do. Then he knew exactly what to do. Do what the Chamber said not to do.

Mr. Roosevelt knows he is right, now; before he was in doubt.

Street car traffic seems to have taken a spurt during the past couple of weeks, at least on the Highland avenue line in the late afternoon and early evening. Many of the passengers are required to stand.

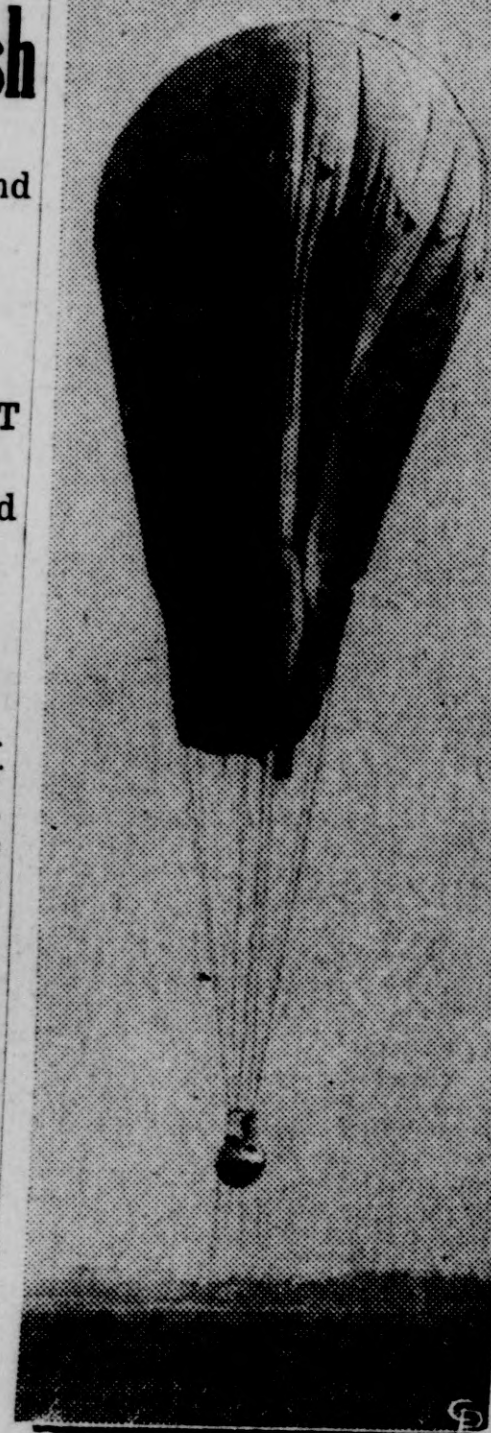

Finding a parking place on the downtown streets last night was rather a difficult problem, especially north of Washington street.

(International News Service)

PAULSBORO, N. J., Nov. 21.—Still suffering from shock and hysteria, Mrs. Audrey Smith Clark, former stage beauty, today was under police guard in a Woodbury hospital while authorities here prepared to lodge charges against her for the fatal shooting of her husband, Sheldon A. Clark, 35, son of a wealthy Chicago sportsman and vice president of the Sinclair Refining Company.

Clark, an officer in the marine corps during the World War and employed as a maintenance engineer by the refining company, was shot and killed in the basement billiard room and bar of his palatial home here after an argument with his wife, in which he struck her on the head with the weighted end of a billiard cue, police said.

No Charges Preferred

Although County Detective W. Clayton, who was summoned to the Clark home shortly after the shooting, and Police Chief W. J. Mattison, said Mrs. Clark had confessed the shooting, no charges were lodged against the former show girl who Clark married in 1925 in Richmond, Va., where he had followed the show company in which Mrs. Clark was then playing. The couple has two children, Sheldon, 3rd, 6 years old, and Harry, 4.

According to George Johnson, 35, a boilermaker and friend of Clark, who was playing billiards with the heir to the Clark fortune when the shooting occurred, the argument between the couple was over a billiard cue.

Rotarians Celebrate Twenty Years Service Of New Castle Club

Congratulating the New Castle club for its "unselfish service" to this community on its 20th anniversary, Dr. Levi H. Beeler, Governor of the 62 clubs which comprise Rotary's 33rd district, declared to the anniversary dinner crowd in The Castleton last night that "nowhere tonight would you find an organization, excepting the Christian church, that is doing the work that Rotary is doing."

District Governor and Mrs. Beeler were only with the Rotarians and their wives for the past part of a celebration that appropriately recalled the club's infant beginning on November 20, 1913—just 20 years back to the day.

130 In Attendance

With the Rotary group last night were nearly a score of men who were once Rotarians here, who returned with their wives to enjoy once more the friendly fellowship of a group they've never forgotten. Altogether 130 persons were present.

After a sumptuous turkey dinner last night came the program in

Attack Of Heckler As King Speaks Has Parliament Stunned

By HARRY K. REYNOLDS

LONDON, Nov. 21.—For the first time in living memory, King George V. was subjected to the attacks of a heckler as he concluded his address opening the winter session of the British parliament.

As peers and peeresses stood with eyes lowered, John McGovern, socialist member of parliament who has frequently been expelled from the house for violent attacks upon his colleagues, shouted from the gallery:

"What about measures for abolition of the Means test and unemployment cuts?"

Chamber Shocked

For a moment the chamber was shocked into immobility. Then, as other members of the house standing near McGovern sprang into action in an effort to quiet him, he broke into another wild harangue, directing his attack upon the nobles who had turned out in their gorgeous court dress to hear the king's speech.

"You're a gang of lazy, idle parasites, living on wealth that other people create," he shouted. "You ought to be ashamed of yourselves. Think of the starving people outside."

King George had devoted most of his address to a plea for maintenance of world peace, affirming the British government's intention to work for disarmament through the medium of the League of Nations.

This was interpreted as a firm answer to Nazi Germany for its action in quitting Geneva and to Italy for her threat to do so.

LISBON, Nov. 21.—Experiencing some difficulty in taking off because their plane was so heavily loaded with fuel, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh left Lisbon today on a 1,000-mile hop to the Azores.

Both were in excellent spirits, obviously happy to be on their way again, as they made their farewells to a large group which appeared at the airport to see them away.

The big seaplane, loaded with 370 gallons of gasoline and 21 gallons of oil, required a long run of 650 yards over the water before it took the air and headed out over the sea.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—A compromise on McClure liquor control bill was achieved today when house representatives and Gov. Gifford Pinchot agree to retain the basic principals of the measure, but to make several amendments to speed the document through the legislative mill.

After conferring with the governor, legislative leaders gained the support of house Republicans in removing the state alcohol permit board from the bill. Instead the governor will appoint three persons to a liquor commission which will have control of state stores and the issuance to retailers.

Enact Bill Next Week

This agreement, which conferees claim has sufficient support to pass, was announced today.

Men On Relief Rolls Are Given Jobs For Wages

Civil Works Program Gets Away To Quick Start
In New Castle

COUNTY ALLOTTED
$31,815 FOR START

Round Assumes Post; More
Men To Be Employed
Here Quickly

Moving with the same celerity that marked the adoption of the civil works program of the federal and state government, the local program of employment got under way today. Stated in brief form, the civil works program in Lawrence county today sums up as follows.

L. B. Round accepted the post of Administrator for Lawrence county.

Approximately 250 men were started to work on local projects.

The projects under way today are Ray street quarry, the Ne-shannock river walk along Croton avenue, and work in Gaston park.

The work of forming the organization necessary to the handling of the work is under way.

The state allocated $31,815 as a preliminary grant for work to be done here.

Mr. Round was too busy today to be quoted as to the detail of the program except to touch the major points. His statement of acceptance was brief. He said, "this is an immense task that has been handed me. My first reaction was to refuse the post because of the immensity of it. In times like these however no American can refuse to lend his aid to the carrying out of the government's solution of the problem and therefore I accept."

Put 250 To Work

Immediately the new administrator ordered 250 men put to work on projects that are listed as previously under way. No other men added for a few days nor will there be any more men added for a few days until the organization can be completed.

This organization will include an engineering force to draw the plans and supervise the work, an executive secretary to handle the mass of detail in the office, a comptroller to handle all the money, a clerical group for stenographic, timekeeping, and other duties, foremen to handle the various groups and a list of men available, all of the employees to be taken from the unemployed lists now in the Federal Employment bureau in the Johnson building. In this respect Administrator Round will work with R. L. Meermans the employment agent.

No Food Orders

Men employed on the Civil Works program will not receive food orders for their work. They will be paid a living wage, probably about 30 cents per hour, for common labor and will be paid in cash each Saturday night. They will then be able to buy what they want where they want to buy it. No man can work

STATE LABOR PROBLEM BEFORE ASSEMBLY

Probe Committee Presents Report

Majority Of Committee Makes Recommendations For State Law Changes

MINORITY SAYS MOVE UNNECESSARY

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—Pennsylvania's labor problems rested today before the General Assembly which has been urged to enact eight social bills for eradication of sweatshops and general improvement of working conditions in the state's industries.

These recommendations were made in a majority report signed by five members of the committee that conducted an exhaustive study of labor conditions throughout the state last summer. A minority report signed by four members saw "neither need nor excuse for a single one of these proposals" but urged the committee be continued until the 1935 General Assembly.

Those signing the report urging the eight-point legislative program were Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, Judge Horace Stern, Philadelphia; Clarence J. Moser, Allentown; Rep. Thomas J. Gallagher, Allegheny; and Rep. Bertam G. Frazier, Philadelphia.

Program Suggested

Their program consists of a minimum wage for women and children; eight hour day and a 44-hour week for women and minors under 16 years of age; prohibition of the employment of minors between 14 and 16 during periods when schools are in session; ratification of the federal labor amendment; provisions for more effective remedies for collection of unpaid wages; requiring the registration of industrial establishments in this state with the department of labor and industry; extending the act regulating the employment of women to industrial "homework."

The minority report was signed by Senator G. Mason Owlett, Tioga; Senator Richard S. Quigley, Clinton; Rep. Roy W. Shreiner, Dauphin; and Rep. Eugene J. Gorman, Lehigh. They saw no need for passage of the legislation urged because its purpose is now being realized under the NRA.

"The median weekly earnings of 10,550 women in 111 establishments working full time amounted to $8.02," the majority report stated. "Nearly half of the plans employed children under 16 years of age, many of whom earned for a full time week less than $3, and half of them earned less than $4.66."

Signers of the minority report estimated that 90 out of 15,000 manufacturing establishments in the state "were charged with paying one or more of their employees what might be considered abnormally low wages."

Trucks, accompanied by police escorts, left many plants today.

LINDBERGH'S HOP FOR AZORES ON TRIP HOMEWARD

The take-off was at 7:08 a. m. (2:08 a. m. E. S. T.).

As usual, the Lindberghs declined to reveal their plans. They would not say whether the Azores hop was to be the first leg of a flight across the Atlantic to the United States, or whether they would return to Europe after inspecting the air travel facilities of these Atlantic islands.

Land Safety

Horta, Azores, 1 v. 21.—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, after a flight of approximately 1,000 miles from Lisbon, alighted on the waters of Horta Harbor at 2:25 p. m., local time, 11:25 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, today.

The Lindberghs circled over the city for nearly ten minutes before bringing their seaplane down gracefully in the bay.

Island officials immediately set out in launches to greet them.

ROOSEVELT TO ENJOY NEEDED REST IN SOUTH

Johnson probably will be here for a day or so beginning Friday. The N. R. A. chief is to make an address in Atlanta, Thursday night, and was expected to come to Warm Springs from there. He will present a detailed report of N. R. A. activities and progress in Washington.

Is Taking Rest

For the present, Mr. Roosevelt is devoting himself to sunny hours of motoring, swimming and visiting old friends. He was one of the founders of the Warm Springs Foundation, an infantile paralysis sanitarium, and knows nearly everyone here, patients included.

The president has spent each morning since he arrived, on the wide porch of his cottage. An automobile ride in his personal car and a swim in the afternoon usually tops off the president's day. He is devoting himself entirely to rest and recreation.

Put into effect in an effort to reduce the country's huge unemployment dole, it provides that all applicants for relief must subject themselves to searching examination as regarding possible means of support.

King George hesitated momentarily as McGovern's voice and through the chamber and then proceeded to the retiring room with Queen Mary at his side. He gave no indication that the unexpected interruption had upset him.

ROTARIANS CELEBRATE 20 YEARS SERVICE OF NEW CASTLE CLUB

which the pages of time were turned back and the early history of the movement recited. Before the dinner, the group sang "America" and then bowed heads for the invocation by Dr. C. C. Green.

A period of impromptu but enjoyable musical entertainment preceded the speaking program, with vocal solos by Mrs. Stanley Reese, Mrs. C. W. Van Nort, and Rotarian Louis B. Round featuring.

During the evening Rotarian C. W. Herman Hess led the anniversary group in rousing pep songs. At the piano played E. E. Bransetter while Michael Caruso accompanied on the violin.

The group also enjoyed a group of vocal duets, sung by The Castleton Revelers, Paul Watkins and Wayne Harper, two talented bell hops of the hotel. Watkins also sang several solo numbers.

Bolsinger Presides

Presiding as toastmaster was President Ralph W. Bolsinger, who, at the outset of the speaking program welcomed the former Rotarians and their guests on behalf of the club.

Perhaps the most entertaining feature of the program was the 15 minute period of magic and mystery which young Dyke Blair, son of Geo. D. Blair, Jr., provided. Out of the twists of Dyke's magic wand came a host of tricks which thoroughly amused the audience.

Toastmaster Bolsinger after the display of magic art, introduced to the audience the man he termed, "New Castle's forgotten man—Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh." The able Senior High football mentor arose and acknowledged the introduction as the room rang with applause.

Muse Recalls History

To Attorney George W. Muse, organizer of Rotary here, fell the task of historian for the evening, and his enlightening outline of the New Castle club's beginning more than once provoked laughter. Mr. Muse discussed "Twenty Years in Rotary" in a humorous vein as well as the serious.

Muse told the group the first officers were Scott Paisley, the president; George W. Muse, vice president; Rudolph Stadelhofer treasurer and William Schoenfeld, secretary. These, together with E. E. Seavy and others established the club here.

At one point all past presidents of the club were asked to rise.

At the close of Mr. Muse's address Toastmaster Bolsinger read the following telegram from Howard B. Richards, a past president of the club now living in Birmingham, Ala.

Richard's Message

"A long and exceedingly pleasant association in Rotary prompts me to extend congratulations on your 20th birthday. Mrs. Richards joins in best wishes to all the ladies.

Mr. Richards, for years the superintendent of the New Castle Water Company, went south only a few months ago to accept a more responsible water company superintendency.

District Governor Beeler was late in arriving from a visit to the Ambridge club and his message, built around the theme "The Happy Lands of Rotary" was shortened as a result.

The fellowship of Rotary membership, the world around, nearly 150,000 strong, was emphasized by the district leader a professor at Grove City College. He told of his district work and then concluded by saying "it is a joy, Mr. President, to be with you on this anniversary. I congratulate you."

The district governor's message brought the dinner program to a close.

Serving on the committee on arrangements for the anniversary event were Rotarians A. B. Street, Francis E. Sowersby, and Frank McLaughlin and their wives, while on the fellowship committee served Rotarians S. H. Rhodes, chairman; John Offutt and Thomas Boyle.

The evening's reception committee was composed of the officers of the club and their wives: President Bolsinger, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Eckles, Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Paisley and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schutz.

DESERTION CHARGED IN DIVORCE CASE

All Districts Of County Organized But Two, Chairman Sylling Reports

DIRECTORS HEAR REPORTS ON WORK

All districts in Lawrence county but two have been organized and are now functioning for the annual Roll Call. Chairman John C. Sylling reported to the executive committee of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, at their meeting last evening.

These two districts, Wampum and Plaingrove, are expected to be organized and to do their bit before the campaign ends at Thanksgiving time.

Some interesting reports were submitted by Miss Catherine A. Hite, chapter nurse; and Mrs. David Kay, chairman of the garment committee of the chapter.

It is planned to have a class in first aid instruction during the month of February, when a national instructor will be present to outline the course. Chairman Ralph F. Davis reported to the board last evening.

tween Clark and his wife started when the latter asked if Clark would be at home for dinner.

Johnson, who was held in $1000 bail as a material witness, told Police Clark informed his wife he would not be home and the argument ensued.

Mrs. Clark, according to Johnson and Mrs. Lavinia Brown, Cook and housekeeper who summoned the police after the shooting, became angry and left the room.

Heard Angry Words

The housekeeper said she heard the couple exchanging angry words then heard Mrs. Clark scream: "Sheldon, you've killed me!" "Then I saw Mr. Clark with a broken Lillard cue in his hand," Mrs. Brown told police, "and I could hear Mrs. Clark weeping in the dining room. Mr. Clark went on back to the billiard room."

Johnson said Clark returned to the room and resumed his billiard game.

Fires Fatal Shot

"We played a few minutes more," he told police, "when the door of the room opened and Mrs. Clark came in. She had a bloody towel around her head. She stood there and stared sort of wildy. Then she said:

"Sheldon, you've killed me!" "Then she pulled out a pistol and before I had time to move or he had time to do anything she pointed it at him and fired."

The bullet struck Clark in the heart, killing him instantly. As he fell, police quoted Johnson as saying, Clark murmured: "It's all right, Honey."

Another amendment would permit retail sales in hotels, restaurants and clubs to be made between seven a. m. and two a. m. the following day instead of from noon to midnight as now provided. Additional amendments will require that hotels have 10 sleeping rooms instead of 15 and restaurants have a seating capacity of 50 instead of 60 persons.

In addition, the bill will be amended to permit second class townships to obtain license fees for retail establishments located therein.

Earlier the Senate indicated its approval of a portion of the administration's program by advancing to the final passage calendar the Cordier bill levying a $2 per gallon tax on all liquor manufactured in this state before the repeal if officially proclaimed.

SLED RIDING VICTIM REPORTED IMPROVING

Little James Haas, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Haas of Mercer street, who last week broke the small finger of his right hand while sled riding near the New Castle hospital, is reported improving.

The youngster's third and fourth fingers of his hand were badly bruised.

Deaths of the Day

Lynn J. Allison.

W. K. Allison, 502 Whippo street, has returned to his home from New York City, where he was called by the death of his sister, Lynn J. Allison.

The body was brought to the home of her sister, Mrs. Clarence Christie, near West Sunbury and funeral services were held Saturday, with interment in Pleasant Valley cemetery.

Miss Allison was born October 15, 1877, the daughter of Charles and Mary J. Allison of West Sunbury. She was a graduate nurse of the West Penn hospital, Pittsburgh, and had been a registered nurse in New York for the past thirty years.

She is survived by two sisters and five brothers: Mrs. W. H. Shook, Sharon; Mrs. Clarence Christie, West Sunbury; R. B. Allison, Butler; C. D. Allison, Harrisville; H. F. Allison, West Sunbury; C. C. Allison, Oklahoma City, and W. K. Allison, New Castle.

John C. Flynn

John C. Flynn, aged 82, of 1003 Liberty street, Franklin, Pa., died at seven o'clock Monday evening after an illness of several months.

Mr. Flynn was born in New Castle on July 30, 1851 and spent many years in the music business here.

He was a member of St. Patrick's church at Franklin and of the Holy Name society.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sara J. Flynn and the following children: Mrs. Edwin C. Wilson, of New Castle; Mrs. Frank J. Malloy, of Lorain, Ohio; and E. Dudley Flynn, at home; and seven grandchildren.

Services will be conducted Thursday morning from St. Patrick's church, Franklin, at 9 o'clock.

Interment will be made in Calvary cemetery, Youngstown, Ohio.

Jacob Renwick Boggs.

Jacob Renwick Boggs, aged 85, died at 5:30 p. m., Monday in his home in New Galilee, after an illness due to his advanced age.

He was born in Erie County, January 9, 1847 and came to Lawrence county in 1867, locating on what is known as the Boggs farm in Big Beaver township. He was widely known as a prosperous farmer. Upon retiring ten years ago he moved to New Galilee. He was preceded in death by his wife thirty-five years ago.

Mr. Boggs was a member of the Reformed Presbyterian church of New Galilee and had served on the board of deacons for the past forty years.

He is survived by two sons: John and Oliver, at home.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 1:30 p. m., at the home and interment will be made in the Reformed Presbyterian cemetery.

Mrs. Sniff Funeral

The auditorium of the First Christian church was filled with relatives, friends and social associates of Mrs. Mattie A. Sniff, Northwest avenue, Monday afternoon when funeral rites were conducted by Dr. G. S. Bennett.

"Nearer My God to Thee" and "In the Sweet Bye and Bye" were sung by Mrs. Rachel Taylor, Mrs. C. H. Clark, Sam Lewis and John M. Bevan with Mrs. Mary Virginia Patterson at the organ.

Rev. C. S. Joshua, president of the New Castle Ministerial Association spoke a few words as a tribute to the splendid and helpful Christian life of the deceased.

Gorgeous floral tributes silently attested to the high esteem in which she had been held in church and city circles. The ministers of the city and their wives attended in a body.

Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery; pallbearers were James Love, Dr. Earley, H. L. Elder, John W. Jones, Stewart Hunt and S. E. Park. Taps were sounded as Mrs. Sniff was laid in her last resting place.

TRINITY MEN'S CLUB DINNER FINE SUCCESS

At 6:30 o'clock Monday evening the Men's Club members met in the church where they partook of a sumptuous four course turkey dinner. Following the singing of "America" and the invocation was given by the rector, Rev. Philip C. Pearson.

At intervals throughout the serving, pep singing led by Dudley Arnold enlivened the time with Mr. Hietsche accompanying at the piano. They teamed up in giving, two comical and pleasing skits. Following, a cordial welcome was extended by Presley N. Jones, president of the club.

Tribute was paid to the late departed Harry King Bell and at the suggestion of T. W. Dickey, a resolution will be drawn by a committee to exemplify their high regard for him.

A special visitor of the evening, Sam Lewis, was introduced by toastmaster Presley Jones and next was their guest speaker, C. C. Headland, auditor of the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company and former State Banking official. He made a fine address dealing with the classifications of banks; necessity of sound banking principals in the future; requirements of State and National banks under Federal Depository Insurance Guarantee Corporation; full power of the Federal Reserve Board under the Federal Reserve Act and the amendments thereto by the banking act of 1933, and other facts that were most interesting and which proved valuable information. He answered a number of questions at the close of his talk asked by his audience.

Rev. Pearson felicitated Mr. Headland for his inspiring talk and spoke a few words of appreciation. Due to the untiring efforts of the following ladies, the delicious menu and the appointments of the approaching season, were made possible: Mrs. H. J. Hope assisted by Mrs. William Shiber, Mrs. William Jinks, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Georgia Braley, and Mrs. Gardner on the kitchen committee; Mrs. William Hewitt assisted by Mrs. Arnold Bamsley, Mrs. R. F. Boughter, Miss Nellie Ingram and Miss Kathryn Adams, dining room committee.

Mr. Jones was assisted by the officers of the club which included H. J. Culliford, F. S. Sowersby, Jack Hope and Alfred Walker.

Why Doctors give a liquid laxative
The habitual use of irritating salts, or powerful drugs in the highly concentrated form of pills and tablets is risky. The properly prepared liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement without discomfort or injury. You need not take a "double dose" a day or two later.

The public can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drugstore.

What is the "Right" Laxative?
In buying any laxative, read the label. Not the claims, but the contents. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescriptional

CHARTER MEMBERS HONORED MONDAY

What proved a most delightful event Monday evening was the dinner given by the auxiliary to the Sons of Union Veterans for the charter members of the organization. Many members were present, including a number from Youngstown, Ohio.

Mrs. Minnie Mayers and Mrs. Fred House were also celebrating their birthdays and were presented with gifts in remembrance of this occasion.

Many members spoke briefly during the dinner hour, with Mr. and Mrs. House, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Stoner of Youngstown, Ohio among the speakers.

Concluding the dinner entertainment the members joined with the Sons of Veterans in their meeting and program, which included numbers by many of the city's talented children. Mrs. Helen Harlan was in charge of giving away a lovely cushion which was won by Jackie Capitola.

December 4, will mark the date of the next meeting, which will include a bingo party.

CURRENT EVENTS '23 HOLD MEET MONDAY
Mrs. E. Patterson, of Croton avenue, received members of the Current Events '23 in her home Monday afternoon for their regular session. After routine work had been completed, splendid papers on "Care Of Books and In the School" were given by Mrs. Joseph Jordan and Mrs. C. E. Miller. A general discussion regarding this subject which centered mostly on the books of public schools, completed the program.

The next regular meeting of the ladies will occur December 4 at the home of Mrs. O. A. Rodgers on Delaware avenue.

Tigers Auxiliary
Monday night the members of the Tigers Auxiliary met in the Tiger Club rooms on South Mill street with Mrs. Joseph Bordonaro and her team acting as hostesses. Following a short business session, the club presented Miss Margaret Richards, a bride elect of this month, with a tea set.

A prize for high score in 500 was awarded Miss Phil Cherol. Low score prize went to Mrs. John Ross. The club will meet again in two weeks with Mrs. Mike Ross and her team acting as hostesses.

TIME TO BUILD

IN ONE of its recent releases, the always-cautious Standard Statistics Company makes a business of fact-finding uninfluenced by opinion or prejudice, reports that real estate values are extremely deflated, that building costs are rising, and that the time is highly opportune for construction as an investment. It's difficult to see how, under any imaginable circumstances, real estate values could sink lower. They've touched the absolute bottom—now they're moving up. And construction, under the spur of recovery plans, is moving out of the doldrums that kept the industry at a standstill for three years, and is reaching sounder levels.

Bankrupt prices aren't going to be offered us much longer. In the near future, we're going to pay twenty or fifty or a hundred per cent more to build and repair than we would have to pay now. We're going to pay more for land, lumber, roofing materials, cement, heating equipment—everything needed for home building.

Yes, it's really the time to build. Opportunity is knocking now more loudly than it ever knocked before—and thousands of people with money to spend are taking advantage of it. As for those other thousands who have the money but prefer to "wait and see," well, they might meditate on the fact that by the time they do find out that things are really changing, it will probably be too late to do anything about it.

EXPERT VOTE COUNTERS ADVOCATED

The Philadelphia Inquirer discusses the suggestion that expert official tabulators be provided to count the precinct votes cast at an election in a way that will interest the entire state. The paper says: Judges Stern and Kun, after the official tabulation of the Philadelphia vote this week, offered a suggestion that the actual counting and recording of the precinct results should be handled by a special detail of clerks who had passed civil service examinations to qualify them for the work. These staffs would take over the duties as soon as the polls closed, relieving the local election boards of further responsibility. When the local judge of elections, with his majority and minority inspectors and their assistants, put in twelve hours at the polls, they have already completed a task greater than contemplated in the philosophy of the NRA. In addition to that, after dinner, they return to the grind, which has been known to keep them busy until the advanced hours of the next morning.

However, this aspect of the case was subordinated, in the views expressed informally by the judiciary, to the fact that these countries are often unfit for the duty. Judge Stern remarked that in his experience he had found inaccuracies in every one of hundreds of cases where ballot boxes were opened. If a contest is one-sided, a few minor errors may be inconsequential, but in close elections precision is vital. Anybody who ever examined the triplicate sheets prepared by local election boards knows that more expert service should have been available for the tabulation.

The plan of Judges Stern and Kun would have the added advantage of supplying tabulators in any given precinct who probably would not be legal residents of that particular district and hence would have no prejudices or interests to serve in adjudication of contests purely local. No doubt the arrangement would prove practical in large communities like Philadelphia and other populous centers. But the problem of furnishing a trained staff for every remote hamlet in Pennsylvania to undertake night labors, involving the question of transportation, might offer difficulties.

RIDICULE AS A WEAPON

The final victory for repeal forces, on November 7 as Pennsylvania, Ohio and Utah voted in the wet columns, has been attributed to many things.

And not the least of these has been simple ridicule, plus distortion of actual statements. We refer particularly to the oft-repeated references to the 18th Amendment as the "noble experiment," presumably a quotation from Herbert Hoover's 1928 campaign speeches.

As time passed and criticism of Hoover increased during the administration ended last March, the "noble experiment" was subjected to vast ridicule by the anti-prohibitionists who had, by that time, the forces of depression to aid them in their fight. Those two words became almost national by-words for ridiculing prohibition.

But the fact of the matter is that Mr. Hoover did not use them, as such. What he actually said was that the 18th Amendment was "a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far-reaching in purpose." Its motive was noble, he said, but he did not refer to it as the noble experiment.

Thus you have an example of a simple, yet significant, distortion that led to perhaps the greatest single expression of ridicule used in the unceasing campaign to repeal the Amendment.

The ancient expression, "sound and fury," is just highbrow for the modern talkies and critics.

DON'T PAMPER TO WIN CHILD'S LOVE

Often one parent is more popular with a child than the other parent. Greater leniency is shown by the popular one while the other is strict. The strict parent acts for the good of the child, the lenient one tries to make life easy all around and makes it much harder in the long run. Of course children will favor a parent who does not curb their eating.

Even though temporary illness results, this will not turn them away from the one who hands out candy and other sweets whenever they ask for it.

The seeds of chronic kidney and liver trouble and many other ailments are sown in youth and develop so gradually that it hardly seems possible to trace to these little illnesses of childhood.

The child's diet has much to do with the condition of health in middle or old age.

What difference should it make to you to have the child's good will when it surely will come to the place where your indulgence will be remembered and condemned.

Would you rather have the little child's approval or the sincere thanks of the grown man or woman you brought up to eat regularly of the proper kind of food?

If you have a child with brains and pamper him to win popularity, the time will come when that child will say that you yourself did not have any brains.

FATHERS AND LITTLE GIRLS

My father thinks that I ought to be the brightest child in school: That I should remember what's six times six and never forget a rule.

And he says if only I'd stop to think of the word that I have to spell I'd get a "hundred" every time. But I never do. I hate that well.

He shakes his head and he says to me: "Well, I certainly think it queer That a bright little girl like you would make such blunders as I see here."

My father's sure that I ought to be the best little child they've got. He says I possess the ability—but somehow or other I'm not. For I'm always thinking of fairy tales and witches that ride on sticks.

And I just can't bother to keep in mind the answer to six times six. If you were dreaming of something else I think it would trouble you.

To be bumped to your feet to name right off the capital of Peru. My father thinks that I ought to be at the very top of my class. And he shakes his head when I say to him: "I'll be glad if I only pass."

But fathers are very much all alike, for the other girls say to me: Their daddies are sure if they'd only try at the top of the room they'd be.

And maybe the whole world's much alike and all little girls alive. Have trouble remembering six times six and guess it is thirty-five. (Copyright, 1933, Edgar A. Guest)

Italy's Gifts For Family Life Analyzed As Social Project

Tax On Bachelors For Encouragement Of Marriage Received With Some Approval But Wisdom Of Greatly Increasing Population Doubted

Recent mass marriages in Italy, brought about by Premier Mussolini's policy designed to increase the population of the nation, arouse American interest, particularly because of the provision that a tax on bachelors shall create the funds for money awards made to the young wedded couples. There is no criticism in comments on the bachelor tax, but questions are raised as to the ability of Italy to support a largely increased population.

"Bachelors will soon be as extinct as the dodo in Italy," predicts the JOHNSTOWN TRIBUNE, with the conclusion that "Premier Mussolini is taking them out of existence." Noting that each couple in a recent mass marriage of several thousand received a gift of money, the Tribune concludes: "In that gift of money lies the whole secret of the Italian bachelor's heading plunge into the doubtful sea of matrimony. He furnishes the money for the form of a special tax imposed by the government upon all unmarried men. Of course, there may be some courageous souls who will hold no price too high to pay for freedom, but Italy's premier is nothing if not resourceful. If the tax doesn't do a 100 per cent job he'll find another way."

"Italian bachelors, no doubt," suggests the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL, "are not enthusiastic about the tax, but they will probably cherish their freedom more than ever, because the price is high." That paper recalls the details of a recent marriage of 2,500 couples, with the suspicion that "American bridegrooms must envy the Italian benedict who gets married at the expense of bachelors." The Journal continues: "The flowers, music, colorful costumes, and gifts of 1,000 lire banknotes all came out of the pockets of Italy's single men of marriageable age. Placed in the American viewpoint, it is cheaper to get married than stay single. But the dictator is not interested in creating marriages alone. He bases his heroic measure on the plea for an increase in the Italian population. There's no time like the present, he believes, for creating future Fascists. Italy has lost hundreds of thousands of its citizens through emigration, mostly to the United States, where the opportunities for advancement have been greater than in the homeland. These hundreds of thousands of Italians in turn have reared their families in America. There is little hope of these American-born Italians returning to the land of their parents. Therefore Mussolini indicates, by his bachelor tax, he is determined to see his soldiers and citizens produced and reared on the home grounds."

Observing that "Premier Mussolini's theory as to the future prosperity of Italy is in direct contradiction of the accepted American theory," the ROANOK WORLD-NEWS says that "only time can tell which is wrong." It directs attention to the fact that, "in the United States, the birth rate had fallen noticeably in the years before the depression, and the rate of its fall has continued until lower registrations are now reported in the public schools. The World-News continues: "We hear much of the citizens' now unemployed, and have accepted the statement that in an age of machine production, even with a return of normal spending, not all of these people would be needed to produce the things ordinarily consumed. We are told that by putting a stop to immigration, shortening the hours of work, and slowing down the birth rate, the problem of unemployment will eventually be solved. There are not lacking those who claim that the United States is proceeding on the wrong theory, that with larger families, and the coming to the States of constant new population, increased markets would be provided for the factories that have been standing idle, that only a constantly increasing population can make up for the constant improvement of processes of manufacture. The two theories seem to be in direct conflict. Where does Mussolini propose to colonize the excess population of Italy? How does he propose that they be given employment, other than in making perpetual war on European neighbors?"

"The Premier, like Theodore Roosevelt, is an enemy of 'race suicide,'" observes the NEW CASTLE NEWS, with the conclusion that "Roosevelt could only urge, but I'll dare not. The News avers that "having a large family himself, Mussolini does not see why others may not follow his example;" that "a bachelor may not be attracted by women, or he may feel that he cannot afford to take a partner of his joys and sorrows, but no excuse holds goods."

The marriage of 2,500 couples at a single ceremony is commented upon by the NEW YORK TIMES, with the statement: "It was a public gesture in the consecration of nuptiality." This is all very nice, and the 500 lire bestowed on each couple by Mussolini was no doubt welcome, but the fact remains that his campaign to foster marriage and a high birth rate is not succeeding. Depression has cut down marriages everywhere, but much more sharply in Italy than in Great Britain. Marriages in Italy dropped 22,000 between 1928 and 1932, but went up 3,000 in England and Wales. On the other hand, marriage in the United States dropped at a faster rate than in Italy. This shows that free people when they make up their minds can show results, one way or the other, more emphatically than managed peoples."

Similar marriages in Germany attract the attention of the HARTFORD TIMES, which states: "At Altoona recently 120 couples were married in unison in the presence of large delegations of storm troopers. There was much ado over this obedience to the 'Kinder, Küche und Kirche' slogan of the Hitler regime. All the brides had worked in a local cigarette factory, and as an encouragement to take up domestic duties instead, the company had made each bride a gift. As in Italy, the German idea is to turn the pages of history back a few decades, forget that there is such a thing as feminine emancipation. The aim is to take all the jobs go to the men and make the home the nurseries for many robust children, not to forget goose-stepping boys who will make good soldiers. The effort to cancel the economic and social reasons for smaller families by an appeal to patriotism, sugar-coated with a small gift laboriously bestowed, is probably foredoomed to failure."

TWELVE MORE WILLING

A young couple, wishing to get married, went to the minister's house Sunday evening just as he was ready to leave for his church service. The preacher explained to them what he considered a way out of the difficulty.

"You two come to the evening services, and at the close come forward and I will marry you."

The minister had completed his sermon, in order to give them the cue to come forward announced: "All those desiring to be married, come forward."

Thirteen women and one man started for the altar.

Reading the Skies—The sun is 3,000,000 miles closer to the earth in January than the coldest month, that is in July, so it isn't true that the earth is colder in winter than in summer because it's farther away from the sun. The reason is that the sun is farther south in the sky and its rays must travel obliquely through the earth's atmosphere, causing them to be scattered over a larger area. The sun in summer is directly overhead, its rays concentrated.

Will Distribute Christmas Fund

Local Banks Will Soon Mail Checks To Christmas Savings Fund Patrons

AMOUNT THIS YEAR TOTALS $130,000

Within the next two weeks, three New Castle banks will distribute a total of $130,000 to persons who have been patrons of the Christmas Savings Funds, of these institutions.

The three banks which maintain these Christmas Savings Funds, are the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, Union Trust Company, and Peoples Savings and Trust Company.

While the amount is slightly under what was given out by the banks last year at the Christmas season, it will assure real Christmas cheer for a large number of people.

Checks will be mailed to those belonging to the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company fund on Saturday, while the other banks will follow suit a few days later.

Attempted Search Of Car Resented

Michael F. Marco And Andrew Braho Face Charges Before Alderman Mantz

Michael F. Marco, is charged with impersonating an officer and Marco and Andrew Braho, are charged with aggravated assault and battery in an information made by Harry Mooney before Alderman L. C. Mantz.

It is claimed that on last Saturday night Mooney was taking a young lady home from a dance in the vicinity of Nashua. Something went wrong with the lights of Mooney's car, and while he was trying to get the lights in shape, two young men came along and one of them, afterwards learned to be Marco, asked what was in the car. Mooney told them that there was nothing in the car and questioned their right to search it. Mooney claims that Marco then said that he was an officer. Mooney asked to see his credentials, and when none were produced, a fight ensued in which Mooney is alleged to have blacked Marco's eye.

During the scrap it is claimed that Braho jabbed Mooney on the hand, cheek and head, with some sharp instrument, making wounds necessitating the attention of a physician.

During the trouble the young woman is said to have recognized Marco, and this led to the information. It is claimed that Marco has made an information charging Mooney with assault and battery, the charge being brought before Squire Myers of Pulaski.

During the chicken thefts around New Bedford some time ago it is said that Marco was sworn in as one of the vigilantes, but that the tenure of his appointment had expired. It is also claimed that he has been assisting a deputy constable in patrolling roads in the New Bedford-Pulaski district, but that there was no officer with him and Braho on Saturday night. A hearing will be held before Alderman Mantz on next Monday.

GIRL SCOUTS

KEYSTONE TROOP

The Keystone troop 1 met last Saturday night. After they had sung songs and played a few games the girls went to patrol corners. The patrol leaders discussed the budget, they had planned during a long session held last Thursday with their patrol. It was a fine plan and most of the items were accepted by the girls. Later the girls studied for the promotion for which they planned at the last meeting.

Miss Ceinwen John To Give Recital

MISS CEINWEN JOHN

Miss Ceinwen John, soprano, who will be heard in a song recital at the First Presbyterian Church, this city, on Thursday evening, November 23 under the auspices of the McClure Bible Class, is a native of Penyrhys, South Wales.

After attending the University of Wales at Cardiff, she left for London where she continued her studying with Sir Walford Davies.

During this time she entered the National Singing Festival competitions, known as Eisteddfods, held throughout Wales which were open to competitors throughout the land. She gained the remarkable distinction of winning national honors twice before reaching the age of 18. Though still very young before leaving for the United States, she was successful in again gaining three national honors. The last festival at which she sang in Swansea was attended by 30,000 people.

Her appearance in concert is keenly anticipated here.

Codes For Newspapers And Motion Picture Industries Will Be Given Roosevelt

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson will deliver the codes for the newspaper publishing and Motion Picture industries to President Roosevelt on Friday.

Johnson will make his first speech in the south Thursday evening in Atlanta. Following the visit to the Georgia city for special NRA observance ceremonies, Johnson expects to go to Warm Springs for a conference with the chief executives.

In addition, Johnson will make a report to the president on the status of Henry Ford under the automobile code. He has spent several days studying various reports on Ford, including a report on his production schedule made by the automobile code authority.

Milk Price War Flares Up Anew, Man Is Wounded

Man Is Taken To Chicago Hospital Seriously Wounded As Result Of Violence

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—One man was believed fatally wounded today as the Chicago district's milk price war was further embittered with labor difficulties and police intervention.

Leo Meyerick, who said he was a former employee of the Hunding Dairy company, was taken to a hospital as the victim of the first shooting to result from the chaotic milk situation. He was shot in the spine, authorities said, by Motorcycle Policeman Ernest Meade after he had smashed with a brick the plate glass window of a dairy products store on the south side.

A DOLLAR WAVE is it worth a penny to save it?

DANDERINE insures your hair for a penny a day.

When you pay a dollar for a wave, Danderine will help you keep it. It isn't a sticky dressing, or an oily tonic, and it doesn't leave a telltale odor. Its fresh fragrance is gone a moment after applying, but not that marvelous effect of freshness and cleanliness!

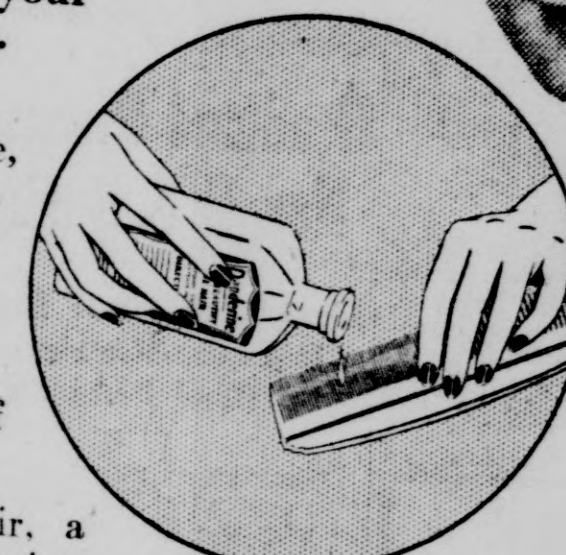

When you've washed your hair, a little Danderine will keep it from going helter-skelter.

Use a dash of Danderine every day—every time you comb your hair—to be sure of your hair all day long! To know it's clean, and looks clean. To know it will stay as you arranged it. And to know no dandruff will sift to the surface.

That's what moistening your comb with a few drops of Danderine will do. And no amount of dry-combing will ever do. Nearly all hair needs the help that Danderine gives it. A dash of Danderine morning and night makes an amazing difference in the way any hair looks all the time! It doesn't affect the color.

With all the care you give your hair, it's a pity to omit this last touch that means so much. It's no trouble! Yet you can hardly believe anything so mild and pleasant as Danderine could bring such a change in the condition and appearance of your hair and scalp. Just try it. You can buy a bottle of Danderine at any drugstore for thirty-five cents.

BETTER LIGHT BETTER SIGHT with this new Floor Unit!

IT REFLECTS light up!

IT DIRECTS light down!

Indirect light is soft—but—bright, flattering light—and that's what this new lamp specializes in. A reflector under its shade focuses the light up to the ceiling, diffuses it evenly over the whole room. There's no glare—not a single heavy shadow. It's ideal for bridge and entertaining.

Because you'll also want to use the lamp for reading or sewing, there are separate switches that turn on three small lights—just like any floor lamp. This direct illumination can be used at the same time the indirect or reflected light is turned on—or it may be used independently.

No Defense For Senator McClure, Others In Court

Wave Of Astonishment Sweeps Court Room As Defense Counsel Says "No Witnesses"

WILL GO TO JURY ON FEDERAL CASE

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—A wave of astonishment swept federal court today as Attorney John R. K. Scott, chief of the high-priced battery of legal talent retained by State Senator John J. McClure and 75 others on trial in a huge liquor conspiracy, announced no defense will be offered.

"We will go to the jury on the government's case," Attorney Scott informed Federal Judge George A. Welsh.

Is Surprise Move

As a result, the fate of the legislator and his co-defendants will probably be known this week. Only the closing arguments of attorneys and the charge by the judge remain. Scott's surprise announcement was made at 11:21, just after Judge Welsh had denied the motions of Defense Attorney William T. Connor that the testimony of each government witness be stricken from the record.

Some sort of defense had been expected, since the defense attorneys were given yesterday to prepare their case, court being ordered adjourned by Judge Welsh.

Headland Discusses New U. S. Bank Laws

Lions Club Hears Banker At Luncheon-Meeting — Set Blind Party Date

What effect recent bank legislation enacted at Washington, together with the NRA, will have on the average man and woman was explained in a layman's language before the Lions club today at noon by C. C. Wheatland, auditor for the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company. "New Bank Legislation" was Mr. Headland's timely theme.

The club completed plans today for attending a regional round-up of Lions clubs at Beaver Falls on Tuesday evening, November 28. Because of the night affair, the club's luncheon here on that day will be passed up.

Preliminary arrangements for the club's annual Christmas party for the Lawrence county blind, for whom the club maintains year around activity, were made. December 21 was chosen as the party date. The committee in charge consists of Earl Ramsey, chairman; R. F. Conway, Dr. T. M. Shaffer, Dr. R. G. Campbell and Joseph E. Leyde.

Saturday Will Be Pay Day For 2,000,000 Men

Under New Government Employment Program Many Will Get First Pay In Months

ALL CITIES ARE AIDING PROGRAM

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Saturday will be pay-day for nearly 2,000,000 workers under the new government employment program. For many it will be their first pay in months, or even years.

As every city strove to put men to work under the plan, direct relief lists were virtually wiped out in some communities including particularly Florida, Oklahoma and South Carolina.

This list of new workers will be augmented by 500,000 in the immediate future, as lists of federal projects for the civil works program are approved. The first of these lists is before Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator today, and will be passed on at once, he said.

Approximately 2,000 disbursing officers are engaged on pay-rolls at least one in each community where work is progressing. They were directed to have pay-rolls ready by Thursday, so that pay-day will be certain Saturday morning.

Name Is Stricken From Bail Bond

In the case of Thomas Maloney against Anna Saffier, executrix in the estate of the late Jacob Saffier, Judge James A. Chambers has set down an opinion at court to-day in which a rule on plaintiff's motion to strike off the name of Herman Fell, as surety, is made absolute, and plaintiff's motion that the transcript of appeal be stricken off the records is granted, unless defendant's perfect bail within ten days.

The case was one growing out of the alleged insufficiency of bail in a civil action. It was alleged that bail had not been properly taken.

TWO AMERICANS LAND SAFELY IN JERSEY MARSH

after he had made his way through the marshes at 9:30 a. m. to the farm house of S. M. Johnson in the inaccessible back neck region. "I'm Major Fordney," the visitor said, as he arrived at the Johnson farm. "Fordney the balloonist. Can I use your telephone?"

He was admitted. Without delay he reported by telephone to army headquarters at Chicago. Major Fordney is attached to the Marine Corps; Lieut. Commander Settle to the United States navy.

"It was a normal ballooning operation," said Fordney to the International News Service correspondent a short time later. He spoke in a calm, matter-of-fact tone. He is a stocky man of medium height, slightly bald. He wore a sweater over a leather vest.

Landed Last Night.
He said he and Commander Settle landed at 5:30 p. m. They had set out from Akron, Ohio, at 9:30 a. m. yesterday.

Instead of trying to make their way through the slushy marshes in the gathering darkness he and Settle decided to remain in the balloon last night and make their whereabouts known first thing this morning.

Mrs. Johnson, the farmer's wife, insisted on being the good hostess to her unexpected visitor. "You must have some breakfast," she said.

With a smile, the major complied. He admitted he was hungry, even though he and Settle had some concentrated food with them during their flight.

He partook of ham and eggs with relish.

He was casual and smiling when the reporter burst in upon the scene. "Oh yes," he admitted, "we did spend a rather uncomfortable night. But the experience was well worth the inconvenience. I worked up a mighty good appetite."

Up 59,000 Feet.
"Our instruments indicated that we reached a maximum height of 59,000 feet."

This was higher than any other Americans had ever penetrated into the sky. The record, 63,320 feet or 11.8 miles, was established by three Russian balloonists near Moscow last September.

Major Fordney was smeared with mud when he reached the farmhouse.

"It was a safe landing," said Fordney. "There wasn't the slightest jar. The balloon behaved perfectly in the pinch."

The major's first consideration was his wife. "Please tell her I'm all right," he asked the reporter. He had made the trip through the marshes like a veteran. He considered his three-mile walk back to his companion, Settle, and the balloon, through the marshes to be a worse experience than his ascent into the bitter cold of the stratosphere.

"It was hard work," he said, "climbing through those bogs and marshes."

Land In Swamp
The spot where the balloon landed is extremely isolated, ringed about with swamps, bogs and roadless stretches of woodland.

Searching parties had not yet reached its vicinity although almost all of Southern New Jersey was being combed on foot and from air by aviators, state troopers, game wardens, highway inspectors, hunters and volunteer searchers.

Coast guard and vessels were also searching along the coast in the fear that the balloon might have been blown out to sea.

News that the balloon and its occupants had been found raced through the countryside and authorities called off the search. Lieut. Commander Settle and Major Fordney had dumped their radio sending apparatus yesterday to lighten their load as they began to descend and drift.

Came Down Fast

"We came down pretty fast and had to keep dumping things overboard to lighten the ship," Major Fordney explained.

"When we hit the ground just after dark we found it to be very swampy. So we wrapped ourselves up in the balloon for the night."

"Tex (Settle) stayed with the balloon to guard the instruments while I walked to the farmhouse. He's waiting for me to bring him back something to eat."

The safe landing of the balloon bore out the predictions of navy aviators who, as the early hours wore on without the craft being sighted, had predicted that Lieut. Commander Settle would bring himself and his companion safely through.

They pointed out, is one of the navy's most competent flyers and consistent winner of balloon races while being the only man in America to hold licenses to pilot anything from a dirigible to a glider.

To Salvage Balloon

Lieut. Commander Settle and Major Fordney were understood to be planning to devise some means of getting the balloon out of the marsh safely. It was thought likely that it might have to be dragged to Delaware Bay and there placed over a barge, or else that it will have to be dragged three miles to the nearest road.

Several army planes arrived late in the forenoon and began circling over the vicinity of where the balloon landed.

Although a truck was being sent from the naval air station at Lakehurst to transport the balloonists and their equipment to the air station, Major Fordney said he expected that he and Settle would drive to New Castle, Delaware, this afternoon and then take a plane to Washington.

more than 30 hours per week or 130 hours per month. All persons now receiving food orders will be transferred to the paid rolls.

As to the number of men who will be employed by the new program this cannot be estimated except in a rough manner. Mr. Meermans estimates that approximately 2000 will be affected when the plan finally gets under full steam. The plan in Pennsylvania is to have 300,000 jobless men working by December 15.

Feasible Plan
The Civil Works plan seems to be the answer to the need at the present time. It puts men to work at a living wage, abandons the sometimes criticized food order payment plan, and will result in many local projects being finished that might have waited for years due to lack of funds.

The idea of the Civil Works plan is to operate it much as a general contractor does. As the Administrator Mr. Round will have supreme charge in Lawrence county and will not be answerable to politicians or political groups seeking favors. He is charged with putting as many men to work as possible without thought of personal or political adherence, will have complete authority to designate projects and set wage scales.

The scales will be adopted within a few days and the wages for skilled labor will likely be drawn after the prevailing rates paid for skilled men in this district. No foreman will have the authority to hire or fire men but must make recommendations for dismissals to the Administrator. The man or men affected will then have the right of appeal to the administrator to have his case settled.

A more detailed statement of plan will be made by Administrator Round in a day or so when he has emerged from the mass of detail that has him engulfed today. In the meantime it is asked that calls for employment be not made to him for a few days until he has time to arrange his plans.

Texan 'Miss Arizona'

Although she calls Houston, Texas, her home town, Miss Dorothy Greer has the distinction of winning the title of "Miss Arizona, 1934," in a contest conducted at the University of Arizona, where she is a student. Modestly, Miss Greer says she doesn't know how she won the title.

More Collectors Start Out After City Delinquents

In order to expedite "The Last Round" up delinquents who have failed to pay their 1932 personal taxes, two more collectors have been added according to City Treasurer Louis McClung. At present there are four collectors and each is armed with jail commitment papers. However, it has not yet been necessary to commit any of the delinquents to jail.

According to the city treasurer people are paying up. Quite a sum has been realized since the collectors went to work. In most instances the persons who are requested to pay their taxes do so at the city treasury.

The 1932 personal taxes which are delinquent include the five dollars school tax and at the October session of the school board the directors instructed the city treasurer to make collections and to use the er of his office to secure the money.

Age Grade Table Statistics Are Shown In County

Boys Outnumber Girls In Rural Schools, Figures Of Sylling Reveal

SIXTY PER CENT ARE OF NORMAL AGE

Some interesting figures have been gathered by County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Sylling in connection with the ages of the pupils in relation to their grades in the schools of Lawrence County.

The figures, which represent all schools outside of New Castle and Ellwood City, reveal the fact that there are 240 more boys in the county schools than there are girls, the predominance being in the elementary grades, as there are more girls in the rural high schools than boys. The figures show however that the girls are smarter than the boys, there being more girls under the normal age in the different grades than boys, and among those who are over age for their grade, the boys predominate.

Twenty six per cent of the pupils in the elementary grades are over age, while only 22 per cent of the high school pupils are over age. Eleven per cent of the elementary school pupils are under age, and 17 per cent in the high schools are under age.

Approximately 60 per cent of the pupils in both the elementary and high schools, are of normal age for their grades.

A resume of the statistics shows the following:

Homes Are Saved In Pennsylvania

State Ranks Third In Number Saved Through Home Owners Loan Corporation

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21.—Pennsylvania ranks third of the 48 states in the number of homes saved through the efforts of the Home Owners Loan corporation.

The corporation reported today that up to November 10 the Pennsylvania branch of the corporation had saved 468 homes from foreclosure through exchanging corporation bonds for mortgages. Only two states, Ohio and Michigan, have saved through the exchange of bonds and Michigan with 637 homes saved.

In taking over the mortgages on the 468 homes, the Pennsylvania branch advanced corporation bonds totaling $1,177,920. This placed the state third in this respect, Ohio coming first with bond loans of $3,310,178 and Michigan second with $1,730,940.

Mercer County Miners To Vote

MERCER, Nov. 21.—Election of six representatives from each of the No. 2 and No. 3 mines of the Sharon Coal and Limestone Company, will take place on Wednesday, November 22, at each of the mine offices. A secret ballot will be used. Twelve men have been placed in nomination at each mine, from which the six representatives will be chosen. The election will be conducted by the National Labor Board, for the purpose of selecting representatives to take part in collecting bargaining agreements with the operators.

Depression Halts Pistol Practice For City Police

One of the reasons why the police of New Castle do not participate in pistol practice is due to the fact that the financial condition of the city will not permit of the purchase of ammunition. Some years ago police became very proficient in the use of pistols, owing to the instructions of Harold Dunlap, present inspector of plumbing, who is one of the best pistol shots hereabouts.

Les Harper, it is said, was one of the most proficient pistol shots on the department. State police and state highway patrolmen are required to practice pistol shooting at regular periods. Their marks are forwarded to their commanding officers.

It is believed that when money becomes more plentiful the city will probably furnish ammunition so that police will retrace their way to the pistol range.

Soviet Russia Is Safest Trade Risk Economist Declares

J. A. Marcus, Noted Economist Points Out How Soviet Will Pay For Goods

Increased Gold Production In Russia Will Amount To About $150,000,000

By PAUL C. YATES International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Five methods by which the Soviet government may pay for American goods on a long term credit basis were outlined today by J. A. Marcus, economic adviser in the farm adjustment administration.

Marcus formerly a department of commerce expert, was born in Russia. For several years he represented American corporations doing export business with the U. S. S. R.

Safe Trade Risk
"Due to its foreign trade monopoly and its long established policy of buying nothing for which it cannot pay, the Soviet government is one of the safest trade risks in the world," he declared.

"It has met its obligations promptly through 15 years of troubled world conditions, including the four years of the present depression. There is every reason to believe it will continue to do so."

Sources Outlined
The five sources of Soviet payment enumerated by Marcus included:

1. Increased gold production, to yield upwards of $150,000,000 annually.

2. Increased Soviet sales of non-competitive goods in the United States.

3. Favorable foreign trade balances.

4. Invisible exports, through the 12,000 Torgsin stores in Soviet territory, and through emigrant remittances.

5. American tourist trade, already amounting to $10,000,000 annually and steadily on the increase.

"Russia now is producing about $80,000,000 of gold annually," said Marcus. Rich alluvial and reef deposits are found in large areas of Siberia. The Lena field has been modernized but gold production in the other fields is on a primitive basis. The introduction of American machinery and methods easily should treble the annual output.

Produce Platinum

"Russia is the world's largest producer of platinum. The Ural mountains contain vast stores of other minerals, many of which have never been touched."

Among the non-competitive Russian articles which should find increased sale in the United States, Marcus mentioned asbestos, sausage casings, pulpwood, potash, furs and bristles.

The Russian fur trade once reached $24,000,000 annually in America.

"In 1932 the Soviet government had favorable trade balances in 16 out of 26 countries with which it did business," Marcus pointed out. "In the first half of 1933, it had favorable trade balances in 19 out of 26 countries, and a total favorable trade balance of $70,000,000."

Politicians Busy Helping Motorists Who Are Given Tags

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—Red tags may mean $2 fines to 600 motorists here, but to the other 40,000 who received them they present merely a simple matter of friendly intervention.

This was disclosed recently at City Hall by statistics, showing that city police, since January 1, have placed nearly 41,000 tags on automobiles for traffic violations. Of this number, fewer than 600 have paid fines or forfeits.

Inasmuch as the tags cost nearly a cent apiece, the profit to the city in traffic violations is negligible without considering the countless hours police spent in attaching them.

Friendly intervention by politicians in aiding motorists to get rid of tags has been cited as the main reason for the wide discrepancy.

ASSEMBLY RUSHES STATE RECOVERY MEASURES

Governor's Plan Makes Progress

Eleven Bills Before Legislature To Provide For Recovery Movement

ALLOW ACCEPTANCE OF FEDERAL FUNDS

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot's recovery program to put Pennsylvania in step with the NRA was displayed before the senate today, embodied in eleven bills, four of which were moving toward enactment.

Nine of the administration recovery bills were introduced in the upper body last night and in rapid-fire order three of them were reported out of committee and passed on first reading. The Coyne bill authorizing cancellation of contracts where costs have risen under the blue eagle already is on the calendar.

Three New Measures The three new measures on the calendar today were the Mansfield bill authorizing creation of "authorities" by political subdivisions to erect public works; the Buckman bill authorizing municipalities to accept loans for public works projects and issue bonds for repayment; and the Chapman bill permitting municipalities to borrow from any federal agency.

Other recovery legislation introduced last night would authorize banks and building and loan associations to invest in home owners loan corporation bonds; authorize the department of labor and industry to cooperate with the national employment system; require purchase by governmental subdivisions of NRA manufactured materials solely; establish a $500 a day fine for NRA code violations in interstate commerce; and authorize the department of supplies to act as Pennsylvania's civil works purchasing agent.

Profit-Taking Halts Market

Main Body Of Stocks Hold Firm Around Previous Closing Levels

RAILROAD SHARES ARE QUITE ACTIVE

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Profit taking held the stock market in check this forenoon and the main body of stocks ruled firm around their previous closing levels.

Easiness in the liquor shares also was a factor in the markets churning around without getting materially higher. National Distillers sold down to a new low on the movement at 27 1/2, and failed to rally from this point. Schenley, American Commercial Alcohol and United States Industrial Alcohol also were easy.

Railroad shares showed the preponderance of activity for the first time today with New York Central, Atchafalaya, Lackawanna, Southern Railway and Pennsylvania getting up to new highs. The movement. Motors, steels, and other industrial shares were firm but failed to get very far over yesterday's close. The utilities showed some improvement as yesterday's selling pressure abated.

The commodity markets reflected, in part only, the further depreciation of the dollar.

Wheat and the other grains were irregular on profit taking and cotton gained about 50 cents a bale. Silver also was higher.

Profit taking was evident in the specialties including United Aircrafts, United Carbon, Case, and Celanese. Gold mining shares were only steady.

Trading was brisk throughout the forenoon but the ticker with the exception of the opening managed to keep abreast of the market.

NEW HEATING GAS SOLD IN BOTTLES

(International News Service)

BERLIN—A new lighting and heating gas, which can be sold to householders compressed in steel bottles and which is said to be non-poisonous and cheaper than the customary gas, has been developed by a world-famous German dye trust.

The gas consists of propane, a by-product of artificial gasoline production which is subjected to a secret process. This new lighting gas is sold in steel bottles containing 50 cubic meters which should last from one to three months in home use for cooking, heating and lighting.

Stopped By Singer

GRACE WILLIAMS

Because Miss Mary McCormick opera singer, believed Grace Williams, shown here, Los Angeles woman writer, was attempting to sell information regarding the property settlement between the singer and her recently divorced mate, Prince Serge Mdivana, to a newspaper, she hurried down to the newspaper office to investigate. Finding Miss Williams, the singer struck one blow, and the fight ended as editors and reporters stepped in. Miss Williams announced she will sue.

BOAK WRITES OF TRIP WEST.

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 16, 1933.

Editor, The News, New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

Thinking that possibly you might be interested in our trip I will write you a few lines.

We left New Castle Thursday night, 11:18. Met the other members of our party, which numbered 65, in Chicago, Friday morning, where we were met by buses which drove us about the city until noon.

After lunch (we farmers still call it dinner) were taken to the "Century of Progress" where we stayed until 10 p. m. when we boarded the Burlington R. R. for Denver. Arriving in Denver Sunday 7 a. m. A tour of the city was enjoyed by most of the group but Mrs. Boak and I remained in the station visiting our cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Brown and daughter. They were former residents of Lawrence county, having gone to Colorado about 45 years ago and have not been east for 26 years.

Saturday being Armistice Day, James C. Farmer, lecturer of the National Grange, invited our party to the observation car at 11:00 when appropriate services were held. An amusing feature, some of the passengers, who had strayed in the observation car, ceased smoking cigarettes and asked where those ministers were going thinking we were enroute to a preachers' convention. That is no slur on the clergy.

We left Denver at 8 Sunday morning arriving in Colorado Springs 10 a. m. Attended church at 11. In the p. m. we met by auto for a trip to Cheyenne mountain, elevation 10,240 ft. Garden of Gods and other places of interest. Sunday evening Colorado Grangers gave us a reception in the hotel (Antlers). A suitable program for Sunday evening being rendered thru the efforts of the Colorado lecturer and the lecturer of the National Grange.

Monday morning we were taken for another drive over the surrounding country, our train leaving over the Rio Grande for Salt Lake City at 10 a. m. After passing through the Colorado Rockies, (they are well named) and the Royal Gorge we arrived in Salt Lake City at 8 Tuesday morning. We were met by buses at 10 a. m. and driven over the city, visited the capitol that was built without

Treasury Head Clamping Down On Publicity

Iron Hand Of Censorship
Clamps Down For First
Time On Treasury
Department

MORGENTHAU JR.,
WILL BE BOSS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The iron hand of censorship was clamped down on the treasury department today for the first time in the memory of the oldest newspaper correspondents who have covered the nation's financial affairs.

Acting Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr., gave definite instructions to subordinates, including assistant secretaries, they are prohibited from talking for publication or giving out any information as to the affairs of the department.

Will Be Boss
The acting secretary indicated he proposed to be boss of his own ship and to this end desired that all information be given out by him or through Herbert E. Gaston, former New York newspaper man, who was named to head press relations. Gaston had been associated with Morgenthau at the farm credit administration.

In the past, even during war years, assistant secretaries and minor officials were free to use their own discretion in most cases as to matters to be given the press. During the war there were two press agents but they handled chiefly war loan propaganda. The treasury had no other official press agent at the time or since until Gaston was appointed.

Big Crowd Hears Seth Parker Folks

Interesting Program Is Given
In Croton M. E. Church
Last Evening

Croton M. E. Church was crowded last evening when the Seth Parker folks, of the Warren, O., Lutheran church, presented their program of old-time songs under the auspices of the Queen Esther Society of the church.

The group contained a number of talented singers whose efforts were deeply appreciated by the large audience present. A silver offering was taken up for the benefit of the society.

Home-Coming Day Is Big Success

Members From Various Cities
Arrive To Attend Family
Day At Church Sunday

Sunday will remain as a Red Letter Day in the history of the First Congregational church, East Reynolds street. Each Sunday morning friends began to arrive from various out of town sections, until by eleven o'clock the church auditorium was comfortably filled.

The Men's Bible Class under the direction of Dave Lewis with Cliff James at the piano, sang several selections.

During the afternoon the fall rally of Lawrence County Junior Christian Endeavor Societies was held, when about two hundred youngsters listened attentively to an address by Miss Olive Roberts, of Butler, a returned missionary from Peru, S. A.

The Senior Christian Endeavor Society, at 6:30 was privileged to listen to a stirring address by C. W. Hermon Hess on "Shams and Pretenses."

Long before the hour to begin the evening service, the auditorium was filled and when the choir took its place every available seat was occupied. More visitors had arrived during the afternoon and with the many former members and friends from the city, the church took on an old time appearance, like that of twenty or thirty years ago before the congregation scattered to various points.

In addition to numbers by the male chorus, there were solos by Mrs. Bronwen Jones of Alliquippa, Mrs. W. F. Jones, Weirton, W. Va., and a duet by Mrs. D. B. Jones and son, Henry of Alliquippa.

The pastor, Rev. Rees T. Williams delivered a stirring sermon on "The Passing and Permanent in Religion

The massed singing by the large congregation, a ladies choir of thirty voices, and the fifty voiced male chorus was greatly enjoyed.

Old acquaintances were renewed; and friendships made, the congregation is looking forward to a bigger and better family day next year. The following persons from out of town were noted in the audience: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fowler and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Isaac James; Mrs. M. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Emrys Davies, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jones and children, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Williams Jr. and son, Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas, Mrs. C. F. Morrow, Mrs. Allsopp and son, James; Miss Jane Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas George, Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. William Grey, Mrs. William Llewellyn and daughter.

With Telephone Company 30 Years

Peter J. Vonderau Of Local Plant Department Rounds
Out Lengthy Service

Peter J. Vonderau, an employee of the plant department of the Bell Telephone company here, has just rounded out thirty years of service with the phone company in the New Castle district.

He is one of the oldest employees of the New Castle district, in point of service, and believes he still has a number of useful years ahead of him.

Another employee of the plant department who entered the ranks of the Bell Telephone Veterans was Harry H. Dean, who completed 21 years of service on November 5.

John S. Farr, former district manager here who is now with the Philadelphia Commercial Department is also completing 21 years of service with the company.

ACCIDENT VICTIM

LEAVES HOSPITAL

Joseph Butera, of West Pittsburgh, who was badly injured early last week in a collision between his automobile and a truck, at the Willow Grove bridge, has recovered sufficiently to leave the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Butera suffered a broken jaw and lacerations of the head. His car skidded as he left the bridge, swerving into the path of a truck of the H. G. Preston Company.

(By WILLIAM A. JOHNS)

Llewellyn Thomas, of South Mercer street, was called to Taylor, Pa., last week, by the death of his niece, the daughter of his sister, Mrs. Jane Williams. The young woman passed away very early in life. She left a mother and sisters and brothers, two uncles, Llewellyn and John Thomas and one aunt, Mrs. Sarah A. Lewis, all of New Castle.

A beautiful sacred concert was held last Sunday evening at the Emmanuel Baptist church, when the following program was rendered. Reading of the lesson of the evening, Mrs. Houk; prayer by Mrs. William J. Lewis; solos by Miss Eva Jones, Miss Ellen Jones and Mrs. William Bluedorn; speeches by Mrs. Mary Jones and Griffith Phillips. The concert was dismissed by Mrs. T. L. Jones. Miss Ann Mae Jones was at the piano.

The veteran, John Harvard, of Euclid avenue, who enjoys with his daughters, Mary and Elizabeth, his 85th birthday last Wednesday, November 15, is now enroute to his 86th milestone and active.

We are pleased to say that Mrs. Mary Strimatter, of Park avenue, is getting better slowly after a few weeks of illness but she is still under the care of a physician.

Two Tax Relief

Measures Before
State Legislators

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—Two tax relief measures, one permitting city, town, school, borough and township tax collectors two years to collect delinquent assessments and the other designed to save Philadelphia several million dollars, were before the senate on second reading calendar today.

The Scott bill gives tax collectors whose terms have expired two years to collect delinquent taxes before their duplicate books are closed. The bill was introduced last night.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

Thousands of pile sufferers have not yet learned that quick, safe and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes the hemorrhoidal veins are filled with stagnant blood, weak and flabby. To get rid of pile misery an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and strengthen the weakened tissue.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt after years of study found a real internal pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and after prescribing it for his patients with a most remarkable record of success, decided every pile sufferer might get his prescription at their druggist with a money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's remedy is such an effective one that it should help you to quickly trace misery for blessed relief. So why doubt or delay when Eckert's Cut Rate & New Castle Drug Co. says "Get a bottle of HEM-ROID tablets today; take them as directed, if you are not free from all pile misery, get your money back."

quirements it is stated today by local board members.

The program includes the cleaning of the banks of Wolf creek and landscaping, the repair of streets, walks, sewers, cleaning up of the parks, a swimming pool. The program is subject to approval of the state officials and may be changed before active operations start. R. E. English represented Grove City at the gathering at Harrisburg, Monday.

Thousand Attend Safety Meeting

Engineers Society Conducts Most Successful Meeting Monday Night

Surpassing the expectations of the sponsors, the Safety Meeting held in the Benjamin Franklin Junior High School Monday night saw over 1000 engineers and industrialists interested in safety present to hear the addresses and enjoy the vaudeville program.

N. F. Vidal, Jr., president of the Engineers Society of New Castle opened the meeting with a brief address of welcome. He expressed the pleasure of the society at the splendid attendance and said this was the first meeting of its kind held in New Castle in ten years. He then introduced E. L. Davenport of the Johnson Bronze Company who acted as Master of Ceremonies of the evening who introduced the speakers.

John Campbell, Acting Director of the Bureau of Inspection of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry was the first speaker and dwelt upon the part the Department had played in developing the Safety First idea in this state. He presented an interesting history of the department's work and spoke of the splendid co-operation existing between the department and the industries of the state.

John Burke, Superintendent of Safety of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company of Sharon, Pa., was the next speaker and had as his subject "The Development of Industrial Safety." In his address he traced the development of the Safety movement that has meant so much in the saving of life and limb in industry in America and particularly in Pennsylvania.

C. E. Sankey, General Superintendent of Safety for the National Tube Company in Ellwood City was the last speaker and spoke on "The New Deal in Safety." Mr. Sankey is an interesting speaker and lived his address with some humorous references. He told of the high standard of safety in Lawrence County plants and urged industrialists to strive for even higher standards.

Horace Morgan and Lew Jenkins, two local copies of Joe Penner and Ed Wynn provided the comedy for the evening. They presented two vaudeville skits that went over in a big way.

Orchestral music was provided by the Benjamin Franklin Junior High School orchestra under the direction of John E. Paton. The meeting was an unqualified success and evidenced the work of the local engineers in its preparation.

Wood Working Classes Start

Approximately 50 boys and men reported at the Washington Junior High School Monday for the opening of the Wood Working classes established as a unit in the Emergency Education Relief program in New Castle under the Federal government.

Under the direction of H. L. McCurdy the classes will get under way this week, Monday being given over to organization. No students now in school are permitted to enroll in the classes, they being for boys and men over 16 who are out of school.

The project is not a part of the New Castle School system but is financed by the Federal government as a part of its relief measures.

It is a wise precaution to place a small strip of adhesive tape, on which has been printed your name, address and telephone number, on the inner flap of your purse. In case of accident or in case your purse is lost you or it can easily be identified.

Plan To Merge Large Colleges

Would Merge University Of Chicago And Northwestern
Into Great Institution

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Negotiations looking toward a merger combining the University of Chicago and Northwestern University into one great educational enterprise today were reported to have reached the final stage.

John A. Traylor, chairman of the Northwestern University merger committee, said the combination would be complete and not a co-operative union.

Details of the merger will be made public January 1, President Robert M. Hutchins, of the University of Chicago, said.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Big Saving! No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively has no equal for quick, lasting relief.

From any druggist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and heals the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.
